

Media Advisory

For Immediate Release:

June 14, 2021

For more information, contact:

Lynthia Ross
(706) 533-8176

Davidson Chorale on NPR Podcast From The Top

(AUGUSTA, GEORGIA) – A performance by the John S. Davidson Fine Arts Magnet School Chorale is featured this week on National Public Radio's podcast From The Top for the Juneteenth episode. A recording of the Chorale, directed by Phillip Streetman, performing There is a Balm in Gilead by Moses Hogan is the first performance of the podcast. Soloist Zanaiah Billups, a 2021 graduate of Davidson, and former Chorale President Sierra Hall, a 2020 graduate of Davidson, were interviewed for the show.

The podcast can be heard on Apple Podcasts, Spotify, and SoundCloud.

- # # # -

<https://fromthetop.org/show/juneteenth-special-show-401/>

###

"Learning Today, Leading Tomorrow"

Building a world-class school system through education, collaboration, and innovation